

Stuart Broadbelt

Stuart is a McDonald's Franchisee who owns stores in Merseyway, Reddish and Bredbury in Stockport. Whilst Stuart has the backing of a successful global brand, he is an individual business owner, directly employing in 300 local residents and importantly he is a BID Levy Payer.

Stuart has three twenty- year Franchisee Agreement so he is fully committed to the success of Stockport. Stuart's ambition is to continue to help create a vibrant, accessible and safe town so that Stockport is the first destination to shop, relax and work.

Prior to becoming a McDonald's Franchisee, Stuart worked for a number of large corporate organisations. His career began as a Buyer for a Multi-National Utility Company. He progressed to lead their IT Procurement teams across Europe. Stuart's last role before becoming self-employed was Operations Director for a Global IT Services Company. Stuart has a wealth of procurement, operations and general management experience and is a graduate of the Chartered Institute of Procurement and Supply.
